

GLOBAL PROFESSIONS, GLOBAL ACTION LECTURE SERIES

Empowerment through Education of Women and Vulnerable Populations in sub-Saharan Africa

November 6th

4:00-5:30 PM

INTS Screening Room

DR. JULIE H. SULLIVAN

Dr. Julie Helen Sullivan is President and Chief Executive Officer of the International Foundation for Education and Self-Help. She has worked for the Foundation for twenty years. Prior to her work at IFESH, she worked at the New York Times. Dr. Sullivan has managed a wide portfolio of self-help development programs under the Foundation including the USAID-funded Teachers for Africa program. She has taught at the University of Delaware. Dr. Sullivan is one of six women honored by the American Red Cross and TPC Foundation in 2007. She is the recent recipient of the Yunus Award. This honor is given to individuals and Millennium Micro for Macro Summit delegates in recognition of their creating replicable, feasible, innovative solutions toward the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals.

The Global Professions, Global Action lecture series brings distinguished speakers to UCR from a variety of professions to share their experiences and ideas .

For more information, please contact: sossman@ucr.edu